Mortimer, C White December 1918

December 21st., 1918

Mr. C. White Mortimer,

His Britannic Majesty's Consulate,

Los Angeles, Cal.

My dear Sir:

I have to thank you for your letter of Dec. 14th with enclosures. The Mr. James Mavor, the copy of whose letter you send me, is the head professor of our department of Economics. Though at first sight his letter might seem to be somewhat strange, you may have no doubt as to where he stands in regard to this war. He is one of the leading authorities on Russia: his two volumes on "The Economic History of Russia" which were published about three years ago, being a standard work. He also has a son who has greatly distinguished himself in the war, and he is anything but a socialist himself, and his sympathies are ardently on the side of the Allies.

I am glad to know that the British Consul of Los Angeles is through our federated college of Trinity a graduate of this University. With the season's greetings, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
